

When you paraphrase, you are restating the author's ideas in your own words. This is done by paraphrasing the original author's words, changing the words, and retaining the original author's ideas and structure without documentation. Students are advised to set their own writer's exact words by quotation marks, with appropriate reference to the original author. Avoid plagiarism by paraphrasing the original author's words and ideas. When you paraphrase, you are restating the author's ideas in your own words.
